

Kawasaki KM90

A go-anywhere midibike with muscle

We introduced this bike to our line last year and called it the Kawasaki 90MC-1. It was a winner. This year we've made it better and call it the KM90.

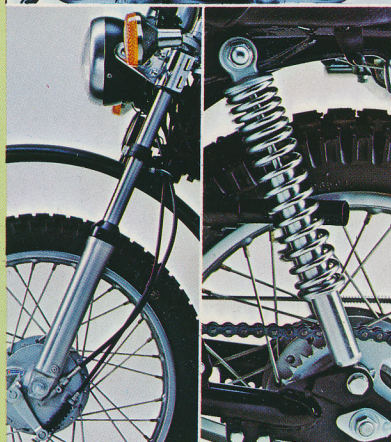

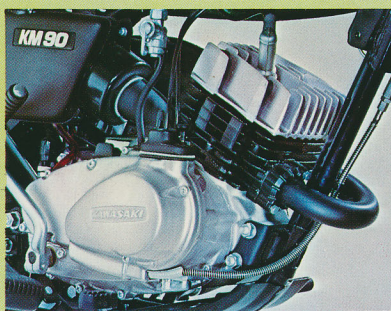

We made it for smaller-sized riders. But we made it to our big bike standards. The tough little 90 cc rotary disc valve engine runs with the best of them. It stays with the traffic on the street and out on the trail it fears nothing. You get snappy acceleration through a 5-speed gearbox and brakes you can count on.

The single downtube frame is strong and the double-acting telescopic forks and rear shocks smooth the ride.

New items this year are a more comfortable seat, a brighter headlamp (6V 25/25W) and longer lasting rubbers for the footpegs. They're little things, but important.

If you're ready to take to the hills and want a motorcycle that's small enough to handle safely and sturdy enough to tackle anything, the KM90 is your number. It's midi in size but delivers a big bundle of fun.

Try it!
